PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

Product builder with 3+ years of experience identifying real-world problems and turning them into published software using AI-assisted development. 60+ applications published across Android, Windows, Linux, macOS, and web. Each product goes through research, design, development, hands-on testing, localization (up to 35 languages), and ongoing maintenance. All development is done through AI tools - my role is problem identification, product design, quality testing, and product ownership.

WHAT I DO

Product Building

- Identify real-world problems and design solutions
- Define features, user flows, and product scope
- Use AI tools to build, debug, and iterate on software
- Hands-on testing of every product before release

Product Management
